

01 February 2001

John Menzies plc appoints Non-Executive Director

David Coltman has had a distinguished international career in the aviation industry, both on the passenger and cargo side of the business, where he has held various senior positions with British Airways, British Caledonian and most recently with United Airlines.

David Mackay, Chief Executive of John Menzies plc, commented:

"We are delighted that David is joining the Board. The acquisition of Ogden has transformed Menzies Aviation Group into a major international aviation support services business, and David's vast experience will be invaluable to us as we drive this business forward."